

ETD is looking for a Marketing Intern!

Are you a marketing student looking for a hands-on internship in an international business environment? Do you enjoy turning ideas into action and want to gain experience across a wide range of marketing activities? Then we might be looking for you!

At European Tyre Distributors (ETD), we are looking for an enthusiastic marketing student to help keep our marketing department running smoothly and bring our annual marketing plan to life.

What will you be working on?

- Organising and supporting trade fairs and events
- Creating and coordinating mailings and marketing communications
- Developing promotional materials and marketing campaigns
- Supporting promotional activities for our brands
- Designing of brochures and more
- Updating and maintaining our online shop
- Contributing ideas and helping develop our marketing plan for 2027

What can you expect from us?

You will become part of an international business with contacts across the Benelux, Europe and Asia. There is plenty of room for your own ideas, creativity and initiative, as well as opportunities to work on your own internship assignments and projects.

You won't just be observing from the sidelines. You will have the opportunity to make a real contribution to our marketing activities and see the results of your work.

Practical details

- Start date: Immediately but negotiable
- Working hours: Flexible and negotiable
- Plenty of room for your own ideas and internship assignments

Interested, or know someone who might be a great fit? Get in touch with us!